Gun Violence in Schools—It's "Their" Government's Fault

Once again, we are dealing with the horror of young people bringing guns to school for the purpose of murdering their classmates or former classmates. As usual there is the typical hue and cry from the progressive left for gun control. But, whose fault is it that we now live in a desensitized society where traditional Christian moral values are shunned? "Those People" created a nation of materialistic money-worshippers who have expressed utter scorn for values that traditional Bible-Belt conservative Southerners have always embraced. Was it Southerners who threw God out of public schools; or who removed all Christian symbols and holidays from public display; or who exchanged normal God sanctioned marriage for homosexual marriage; or who promoted Hollywood elites who encourage vulgarity in public conversation? All these things—and much more—were done by those elites who control progressive America—Lincoln's Yankee Empire.

The answer to gun violence demanded by the progressive left is to remove guns from law-abiding Americans! Guns did not cause our society to devalue human life; guns did not teach our youth that it is acceptable to live your life by the hippie motto of "if it feels good do it" because, according to the progressive left, all social values are relative—there are no moral absolutes. The Bible-Belt conservative South did not create the society in which we are forced to live but we cannot use that as an excuse for not taking definite actions to reclaim the right to be the masters of our own society.

We demonstrated in Punished With Poverty that the Bible-Belt South is radically different from the rest of these United States with respect to our Bible based values. But the South is a minority in the greater United States—better described as the Yankee Empire. "Those people," as General Lee denoted Yankees, control our Southern society. Those people are forcing traditional Christians to worship at their secular humanist, progressivist altar. They are forcing us to surrender generation after generation of Southern youth to the indoctrination of their secular humanist state. As pointed out in Nullifying Tyranny: Creating Moral Communities in an Immoral Society, the only way to control our Southern, God-centered, society is to reclaim the right to control the secular, humanist, progressive federal government. Gun violence in schools or ghetto-like cities is merely a symptom of the disease. Treating symptoms will never cure the underlying disease. It is time that we took control of our society! It is time that we the people of Dixie applied the remedy to big government liberalism.

The Yankee Empire In Action

Feces, Needles, and Garbage Coming to Sanctuary Dixie?

A recent report issued by an expert in infectious diseases noted that the liberal controlled, sanctuary city of San Francisco has more filth than poor communities in “Brazil, Kenya, and India.” If you want to see what the South will eventually look like if we do not take bold steps to reclaim the right to control our Southern society, then all you have to do is take a look at San Francisco, or Chicago, or Detroit.

Progressives have turned a beautiful city into a cesspool. The article described a city where it is common to see “feces, needles and garbage” on the sidewalks. Liberal politicians did this by luring illegals and other social parasites with generous welfare benefits. A liberal judge dismissed 66,000 arrest warrants for public drunkenness and urinating on sidewalks because he felt bad for the criminals. Liberals are always willing to sacrifice the safety of law-abiding taxpayers if it will buy them reliable votes from social parasites.

When liberals and progressives take over a city, state or nation average people no longer have the right to protest when their right to privacy, safety or even a clean society is denied. The leftist media will brand anyone who dares to protest the loss of community standards as being “uncaring and bigoted.” San Francisco is coming to Dixie. <https://conservativetribune.com/nicest-sanctuary-city-in-us/>

Paul Graham with Shotwell Publishing is also the author of Confederaphobia! An American Epidemic. Paul outlines the rather illogical reaction of the intellectual class as they attempt to culturally cleanse the good ole U.S.A. of all symbols of the traditional South. His book is published by Shotwell Publishing and is available from online book retailers, such as: tinyurl.com/confederaphobia

Yankee Imperialism After the Death of Dixie

In the 1940s Southern historian Francis Simkins noted that “Northern capitalism was eagerly imperialistic.” Professor Paul Conkin of Vanderbilt University also noted that after the War the South became an “impoverished...colony of the North.” But of course, Patrick Henry warned the South about the dangers of going into a union with money grubbing Yankees. Their history has been and continues to be a story of the unceasing efforts to advance their Hamiltonian vision of a global financial and industrial empire. Whether it is Hawaii, Cuba, the Philippines or Iraq the Yankee Empire always finds a way to advance its commercial and financial empire. The Spanish American War was so imperialistic in nature that Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain) suggested that the U.S. should remove the stars from the U.S. flag and replace them with skull and cross bones. The vast expansion of the supreme federal government is built upon the ashes of the captive nation the Confederate States of America.

Is There An Epidemic of Gun Violence in America?

Recent FBI data on homicide rates in the United States indicates an upswing. The current (2016) data indicates a rate of 5.3 deaths per 100,000 of population which is up from the 2015 rate of 4.9. But it is still much lower than the 1990s rate of 9 per 100,000 population. One author noted that some states with very limited gun control laws (Dakotas, Utah, Idaho, Minnesota, Vermont, and New Hampshire) have very low gun related death rates but states such as Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama as well as the rest of the South are “driving up the US rates.” The politically correct elephant in the room that no one will talk about is “What is the major difference between these states—North vs South?” Let us do the politically incorrect thing and try to answer the question that people are too afraid to ask.

Louisiana’s homicide rate is 11.8 while South Dakota’s is 3.1! But Louisiana’s black population is 34% while South Dakota’s black population is 2%. Could this demographic difference have any impact on the homicide rates of these states? Mississippi’s homicide rate is 8.0 and its black population is 38% while Idaho’s homicide rate is 2.9 while its black population is 1%. If you factor out homicides committed by blacks in the South the remaining homicide rate would be comparable to that of the Dakotas or Idaho.

The politically correct Gestapo will brand anyone who dares to point out this obvious fact as being an evil racist seeking to put blacks “back in chains.” The slaughter of innocent black children in America’s inner cities is a direct result of liberal policies that have intentionally created a liberal voting dependency class; destroyed black nuclear families in inner cities; and produced a social condition in which many young black men see gangs and drugs as their only hope.

It is not racist or hateful to recognize a problem and to provide a solution—the hate comes from those whose political interest is in maintaining black Southerners on Uncle Sam’s welfare plantation in exchange for votes. A free and prosperous South will solve these issues. As noted in Punished With Poverty the ruling political elite use the technique of divide and rule to convince black and white Southerners that we are natural enemies but the truth is that we have more in common with each other than either has with the elites in Washington, D.C. or Wall Street.

Yankee Empire: Aggressive Abroad and Despotic at Home

“Aggressive abroad and despotic at home” is how General Robert E. Lee, in 1866, described the future government of the United States if the American principle of States Rights was replaced with a supreme federal government. “Those people,” the term General Lee used to denote Yankees, were indeed successful in their dream of creating a supreme federal government—a government that replaced the original Republic of Sovereign States with an empire, the Yankee Empire! Pacified Southerners refused to recognize this reality but the Empire does indeed exist and it rules over its captive nation with an iron rod. It is an Empire that has the most effective propaganda system in history to protect and promote the Yankee Empire’s interest. It is an Empire that has more foreign military bases around the world than either the Roman or British Empires at their height! It is an Empire that requires its subjects to surrender between 40 to 60% of their income to the Empire. It is an Empire that has declared war against traditional Christian moral values. This current generation has lived to see the day when high school football games were opened with a prayer to the day in which male perverts who identify themselves as female can follow young girls into public bathrooms! Yes, the evil Empire exists and it rules us with an iron rod.

Yankee Empire: Aggressive Abroad and Despotic at Home is the title of the Kennedy Twins’ latest book—to be released this summer. This book is a captive nation’s plea for freedom! It outlines how General Lee’s prediction has become today’s sad reality. The current globalist Yankee Empire was built upon the ashes of the Confederate States of America. Lincoln’s emerging Yankee Empire invaded the peaceful, democratically elected, Confederacy to maintain their ability to loot tariff revenue from the South. In the process they intentionally punished black and white Southerners with poverty and replaced America’s original constitutionally limited Republic of Sovereign States with the supreme Yankee Empire. Pacified Southerners, the ruling political elite in Washington, D.C., and the financial elites on Wall Street and K Street will hate this book—all the more reason for you to put it on your “want” list.

A Picture is Worth a Thousand Words

The picture to the left is used on the cover of Uncle Seth Fought the Yankees, by James Ron Kennedy. Uncle Seth was a “good ole rebel.” He never “shallowed the dog,” the term Confederate veterans used to describe taking the loyalty oath—i.e. pledging allegiance to the victorious Yankee Empire. Uncle Seth understood the difference between patriotism (which is local) and nationalism (which seeks to gain financial profits by projecting power beyond the nation’s borders).

When I commissioned the artist to do the work I specifically asked him to do something that would first and foremost be “in your face” to those who believe that the United States had a right to force the people of the South to live under a government that was not based upon our free and unfettered consent. I wanted it to be clear which nation was the invader and which nation was being invaded. Which flag represented a people defending their right to freedom and which nation’s flag represented an evil invader intent on destroying freedom. As Gen. Beauregard said:

“The Federal troops came as invaders, and the Southern troops stood as defenders of their homes.” When will we stand to defend our homes?

The Yankee Empire—It is Their Country Not Ours

Worldwide (Globalists) Yankee Imperialism has its origin in the North's invasion, conquest, and occupation of The Confederate States of America. Yankee Imperialists set the stage for justifying the invasion of the Confederacy by the skillful use of propaganda falsely claiming (1) the South fired the first shot of the so-called Civil War and thus initiated war and (2) falsely claiming the South was fighting to maintain and expand the institution of chattel slavery while the North was fighting to free their black brothers from the cruel bonds of chattel slavery. This slanderous anti-South propaganda pattern would be followed throughout the remainder of the 19th, 20th, and into the 21st centuries to justify the invasion, conquest, exploitation and continuing occupation of the Confederate States of America. The same pattern of Yankee propaganda would be used to justify worldwide aggressive military expeditions that always resulted in an expanding military/commercial/financial Yankee Empire. In the century and a half since the end of the so-called Civil War, the Yankee Empire has followed its Civil War practice of using high sounding moral justifications for its aggressive military interventions. Unfortunately for the subjugated people, the asserted moral values used as an excuse to justify foreign military intervention would never be fully, if at all, accomplished—yet, the expansion of the Yankee Empire's military/commercial/financial interests would always be accomplished. The Yankee Empire would always be able to congratulate itself—“mission accomplished,” because the Yankee Empire's financial and commercial interests are “too big to fail!” [Taken from manuscript Yankee Empire: Aggressive Abroad and Despotic at Home]

Bret Moffit (KY) with Donnie and Ron Kennedy at Stephen Dill Lee Institute, Shreveport, LA February 16-17, 2018

On May 7, 1861 General Patrick Cleburne stated, "...I believe the North is about to wage a brutal and unholy war on a people who have done them no wrong, in violation of the Constitution and the fundamental principles of the government. They no longer acknowledge that all government derives its validity from the consent of the governed. They are about to invade our peaceful homes, destroy our property, inaugurate a servile insurrection, murder our men, and dishonor our women. We propose no invasion of the North, no attack on them and only ask to be left alone."
